Lack of Continuing Cause Statement Basis of New Decision.

Madison.—The Wisconsin supreme court Tuesday upheld constitutionality of the state anti-trust law, enacted by the 1923 session of the legislature. It held the statute had been validly enacted and was in conflict with no provisions of the constitution.

The court, however, reversed the lower court order which held the P. Lorillard and 12 other tobacco companies guilty of violating the anti-trust statute, on the ground that the complaint had not stated a continuing cause of action. This case was brought by former Attorney General William J. Morgan.

Two Justices Dissent. Justice Burr W. Jones, writing the court opinion, from which two justices dissented, said that "the result of the decision is that there is no misjoinder of causes of action; that the action was brought under proper authority; that the statute in question is valid."

DENY DELANEY REHEARING IN LIQUOR CASE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Chicago.—Judge Delaney, Green Bay, former prohibition director of Wisconsin, Tuesday denied a rehearing by the United States circuit court of appeals and a mandate issued for execution of a sentence of two years in prison and to pay a $10,000 fine upon conviction of violation of the prohibition laws.

In denying Delaney a rehearing, the court denied the defense claim that Judge Evans had discredited himself in the Delaney case in view of the fact that he had presided at the trial of Arthur Barker who, the defense said, was involved in the alleged conspiracy with Delaney.

Harold Grebb, Delavan, a member of a gang broken up last fall after several robberies and the theft of an automobile, and put under the state board of control for a year, Oct. 11, 1922, wanted to be released and has applied for a pardon.

SUGAR BOYCOTT MAY BE URGED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Madison.—Governor Blaine announced Tuesday that he was contemplating the advisability of urging a sugar boycott by Wisconsin housewives and retailers.

He expressed the opinion that such a restriction in the use of sugar would force a break in the alleged manipulation of prices which has greatly increased the cost of this staple commodity.

The governor said that he was much concerned over the situation in Wisconsin due to a rise in sugar prices.

New York.—Mrs. Louise Weitzmiller, deputy commissioner of public markets, has started the nucleus of a proposed army of housewives out in a drive designed to hammer sugar prices back to seven cents a pound.

"May Day" Is European, Not American--Gompers

Washington, D. C.—May Day is a foreign and not an American institution and has no greater significance to the American workman than to any other citizen, said Samuel Gompers in a statement issued here Monday night. In making the statement President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor delivered another body blow to the radicals who would graft European anarchistic notions on American labor problems.

"Due to the propaganda of revolutionary European organizations," he said, "there has grown up a considerable belief that May 1 is a day of sinister possibilities," said Mr. Gompers.

"To American labor, May day has none of the European meaning. It is exactly like any other day.

"One of the differences between American labor and European labor is that American labor has sufficient won the attention and the respect of the people to secure for itself a special holiday, so declared by act of congress and of the several states. American labor's holiday, the first Monday in September of each year, is generally observed by all our people. It has no other holiday and seeks no other except holders, which it enjoys in common with all our people and in kindred spirit.

"Socialists in America have set about with more or less diligence to induce American labor to join in May day celebrations. This, American labor has refused to do and I think I may not at this time elaborate upon the wisdom of its course.

"American labor is evolutionary and constructive. It is not revolutionary and it declines to adopt any of the shibboleths or symbols of revolutionary movements.

"To those who expect to bring about 'the revolution' in a day, May day is as good as any other, particularly if it does not rain."

Skeleton Is Held That of Student, Killed in Rush

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Chicago.—Leighton Mount, Northwestern university student missing since the September 1921 class rush, whose skeleton was found on the Evanston lake front Monday night, was killed in the class rush, Chief of Police J. J. Connelley declared Tuesday.

"Mount's body was carried to the pier after his death and buried beneath heavy stones," Chief J. J. Connelley said. "There could be no other explanation of the presence there of the skeleton."

Both arms and hands, one foot and one leg were missing, Chief said, and the pier beneath which the skeleton was discovered, is being guarded by police until a complete search can be finished.

Chief J. J. Connelley and President Walter Dill Scott of the university met today to arrange for the inquest tomorrow morning. Chief J. J. Connelley announced that the boys who testified at the hearings held soon after Mount's disappearance would be among those summoned to testify at the inquest.

Besides the skeleton, identified by the boy's mother through a belt buckle and fragments of a coat, the chief exhibit for the inquest is a piece of rope about three feet long, found by the body. Students engaged in the class rush of 1921 said today it was similar to the ropes given away by the university to the members of the opposite class.

The rope found by Mount's body was not knotted, and gave no indication of having been used to strangle or bind the hands or feet of the skeleton. It was worn about half way through at spots about six inches apart.

ATTORNEYS QUIT INJUNCTION CASE

Chicago.—Counsel for the railway employees department of the American General Daugherty, Tuesday withdrew from the case, which was scheduled to come before Federal Judge Wilkerson Wednesday.

The three attorneys representing the employees had previously announced that they would withdraw from the case, but it was believed that they would stay in the case to see that the injunction was properly enforced.

The legal significance of the withdrawal from the case of counsel for the defendants, and failure of the defendants to substitute other counsel, is that the defendants have abandoned the case and will allow the case to go by default.

The "disappearance" of the defendants, the legal significance of which is still fresh in the public mind.

OFFICIALS GIVE CLOSE STUDY TO RULING OF COURT.

DODGE TANGLES

Complications Feared Especially With Regard to Foreign Ships.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington.—Officials of the several government departments concerned were giving close study Tuesday to the situation resulting from the supreme court's decision to ship liquor, with a view to permanent adjustments of policy under the court's interpretation of the prohibition laws as applying at sea.

There was an obvious purpose to proceed with careful regard for all questions involved, and to avoid any possible complications, particularly in the application of the law to foreign ships, which the presence of liquor on foreign ships as well as domestic within three miles of the shores of the United States was unlawful.

Both that phase of the decision and the court's declaration that American ships can legally sell intoxicants to passengers outside the three mile limit were expected to come up for discussion at Tuesday's cabinet meeting.

Attorney General Daugherty, who had been called to the attention of the cabinet by the court's decision, was expected to have liquor aboard on the high seas and in foreign ports was upheld in the decision.

A delegation of officials of the several departments, besides a host of friends of the dead senator, marched with the military escort of one company and one platoon of police to the home of the senator, which was reached by the body arrived from Chicago, accompanied by Governor J. A. O. Ruess, one-time protégé of the dead statesman.

The flag-draped bronze casket was placed on a caisson, drawn by six horses, and escorted to the state capitol, where it will lie in state today.

The body of the senator, which will carry the senator's body to his old home in Alexandria, hundreds of his friends, high dignitaries and humble citizens, will accompany him on this last journey.

In his own home at Alexandria, where his only daughter, Mrs. Ida Nelson, now lives, private funeral services will be held on Tuesday.

EMPLOYMENT BILL SIGNED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Madison.—Periods of unemployment in Wisconsin hereafter will meet with increased building activity by the state, to afford work to those out of jobs, following the signing Tuesday by Governor Blaine of the new law.

This measure calls upon the board of control "to ascertain from the various departments and state institutions the number of persons who are unemployed, and to make such arrangements as may be necessary to supply increased opportunities for advantageous public labor during periods of temporary unemployment."

The industrial commission is directed, during such times, to prepare lists of applicants for jobs, giving preference to Wisconsin citizens.

Gilman H. Stordock, Janesville, and signed by John G. Salsman, acting adjutant-general.

The order became effective April 27.

With this step the reduction of the national guard force of the state was made and Janesville suffers with other cities. The state guard officials plan to keep intact the 32nd division and mounted divisions are the first to be disbanded.

Paris.—Up to noon, May day in Paris seemed more like a leisurely celebration of the coming of spring than a day of demonstrations. A band of taxi drivers merely had the effect of diverting more passengers to other means of transportation.

Berlin.—Semi-holiday conditions prevailed throughout Germany. Parades and assemblies were held in various parts of the country, staged mainly by the socialists and the com-

ENGINEER NAMED NEW MEMBER OF RAIL COMMISSION

SURPRISE NOMINATION IS ANNOUNCED BY GOV. BLAINE.

C. & N. W. EMPLOYEE Is Successful, Practical; Has Necessary Technical Lore, Blaine Asserts.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison.—Andrew R. McDonald, democratic candidate for congress in the ninth Wisconsin district in 1929 and a railroad engineer, was nominated Tuesday by Governor Blaine as a member of the Wisconsin railroad commission. When confirmed by the senate, he will succeed Henry R. Blaine, who recently resigned to accept a position with the federal department of agriculture.

This selection of a railroad commissioner by the governor was, according to Blaine, a surprise here. While mentioned for a time as a possible successor to Mr. Trumbower, it had been accepted that the appointment of Mr. McDonald was no longer considered. He was named after Frank McManamy, Washington, D. C., had declined to be considered for the position. He is understood to have technical knowledge.

In making his nomination to this $5,000 a year job, Governor Blaine made the following statement:

"I have been a railroad engineer on the Chicago and Northwestern railroad since 1900, having successfully passed all examinations on a state engineer's certificate. I have been a representative for four years, vice general chairman of his organization on the Northwestern system for six years and local chairman of his organization for 16 years.

"He is possessed of the technical knowledge of all matters pertaining to equipment, condition of yards, railroad crossings, operation of the railroad handling of freight and freight cars and all of the many questions with which the commission is constantly engaged."

Wants Practical Man. "It has been the desire of the governor to appoint a practical railroad man on the commission, with the technical knowledge of the railroad, the commission will be restored by congress so as to make the commission a factor of importance in fixing rates. Even if that power is not restored, the commission will be a practical railroad man will bring to the service a training that will assist in promoting better transportation service."

This is the second railroad engineer appointed to a state position by Governor Blaine. John Meeks, legislative representative of the brotherhood of railway employees, was appointed to the position of public property.

The program will start at 10 a. m. Friday, with an address of welcome by C. M. Yoder, director of commercial courses of the Whitewater normal school. The preliminaries of the extemporaneous speaking contest will be held at 10 a. m., when eight speakers will be selected for the final contest at 7:30 p. m. in the gymnasium.

May Day Entrants' Expenses.—The proceeds of the ticket sale for the speaking contest will go to pay the primary expense, five per cent of the proceeds, being set aside for a reserve and if sufficient remains, expenses of all speakers will be paid in full. If the amount is insufficient to pay all expenses, that remaining will be divided among the contestants in proportion to their expenses. In former years the Whitewater management has been able to provide sufficient money to pay expenses of all speakers.

The maintenance of the extemporaneous speaking contest this year makes the problem a little more difficult. The Whitewater normal school management committee believes that the student body and faculty and community will insure a large attendance.

TAX WORK WILL BE DISRUPTED UNLESS PAY IS PROVIDED

Disruption of the tax work will result if the order of the Wisconsin tax commission to all assessors of incomes to discharge their clerical help May 1, and to discontinue field work usually carried on by them during the months of May and June is carried out, in the opinion of P. A. Taylor, assessor of incomes for Rock county.

Up to noon Monday Mr. Taylor had not received instructions to this effect as printed in new dispatches last week but an oblique reference to the order is expected here within the next 24 hours, Tuesday being May 1.

With the large amount of clerical work necessary to properly conduct the work Mr. Taylor's office will be greatly hampered if such drastic measures are resorted to. It was said Monday. Especially will the work suffer in the larger cities, Mr. Taylor said.

Town, village and city assessors are required by statute to start the compilation of information on which to base the 1924 taxes, Tuesday, and in this connection Mr. Taylor does much field work.

FORMER SECRETARY OF STATE IS JAILED

West Bend.—William H. Froehlich, secretary of state from 1899 to 1902, and cashier of the defunct Jackson State bank of Jackson, Wis., was in the Washington county jail here Monday night, unable to raise $10,000 bail, under which he was placed following preliminary hearing here on the charge of having embezzled $3,200 from Mrs. Louise Herman of Jackson.

His arrest at Jackson followed closely the filing of a petition in bankruptcy against him at the federal building in Milwaukee. Irregularities in Mr. Froehlich's accounts, it is charged, were discovered after the state took charge of the affairs of the Jackson State bank on Dec. 14, 1922. State Bank Examiner Marshall Cousins represented the state at the preliminary hearing of Mr. Froehlich before Justice of the Peace Hayden.

Mr. Froehlich, who was born at Jackson on June 22, 1867, was nominated for secretary of state at the republican state convention in Milwaukee on Aug. 17, 1898. He served until 1902.

Prior to that, Mr. Froehlich was for 12 years postmaster at Jackson. For many years he was the owner of a large general store at Jackson and part owner of two large creameries in Washington county.

Mr. Froehlich was nominated three times for the state legislature and elected to the lower house in 1894, and again in 1896.

CITY IS ASKED TO RAZE OLD CHURCH

State Superintendent of Fire Prevention Says Building Is Hazard.

Tearing down the dilapidated old church building on the city's property on the west side of North Jackson street, near the intersection of Wall street, by July 1, 1923, is recommended to the new city council by E. Florin, state superintendent of fire prevention. The recommendation is contained in a letter received from him by President J. K. Jensen, and while it is urged strongly, it is not in the form of an order.

"The building has dropped below 50 per cent of its usefulness and not only constitutes a fire hazard, but is an eyesore," said Florin, in his view of the fact that he has ordered P. B. Burton to tear down an old barn nearby, it does not seem fair that the city should continue to maintain such a fire hazard.

"May we not see this building removed by July 1?"

In its present condition, the old church structure is of but little use to the city. A few articles of street department equipment are stored in it and occasionally cars are kept there.

Supr. Florin's letter doubtless will be presented to the council for action at its next meeting, May 7.

Florin has been filed with City Clerk D. J. Sartell for forwarding the water main on Court street from its present end to Rucker avenue.

Matheson Thanks Council
Assemblyman A. B. Matheson thanks the councilmen for their resolution of appreciation given him a week ago, in his following letter to City Clerk Sartell.

"I have yours of the 27th with enclosures. The resolutions are very satisfactory to me and I thank you for them."

"Please convey to the members of the city council my gratitude and my assurance that their words of commendation are very much appreciated."

No word has been received from Senator A. B. Garey, to whom a copy of the resolutions on state legislation was also sent.

The council is invited to attend the Janesville-Port Atkinson game here Sunday, May 13, in a letter to Mr. Jensen from Frank Sigel, president of the Southern Wisconsin Baseball league. This is the opening game here.

WORLD COURT IS SIGNAL FOR WILD POLITICAL MUDDLE

Lions acting as individual countries and not by the league, the court would have received hearty approval. Senator Lodge's own words on that point are so pertinent as to describe clearly the lines of cleavage in the present controversy which has been until now belatedly that they will undoubtedly be quoted again and again in the few months by the opponents of Mr. Harding. After pointing out that he does not object to the nominations being made by the league, Mr. Lodge says that under the present scheme, Senator Lodge declares that if it had been proposed that these judges so nominated were to be appointed by the league, he would have voted against it and not by a majority of the council and assembly of the league, and with long terms and salaries, in my judgment, such a court would have received practically universal approval not only by the senate of the United States, but by the people of the United States."

DIFFERS FROM Root
Here Mr. Lodge differs from Ellihu Root, Secretary Hughes and President Harding. He goes over to the "irreconcilable group," who consider that even in the case of the assembly and council for one minute merely to elect judges is a recognition of the league so far as the United States government is concerned. And to recognize the league for this purpose is to concede that it has some advantages for world peace, which is the exact opposite of the contention made by the league's opponents who regard it as a means of entanglement and as a breeder of trouble.

Reservations for Court
The viewpoint of Mr. Lodge is significant because it points the way to the kind of reservations that he or others in the senate will propose. In order to permit American entry into a world court, the method of selecting judges must be revised so as to enable the United States to exercise its judgment apart from the league. One way to accomplish this is to have the court for judges taken by the several nations independently through diplomatic channels, and when the desires of the United States are made known to all the other powers and the votes of the other governments are collected through the league, the results of the balloting can be disclosed.

Whether such a complicated process would be accepted by the other 52 nations is doubtful, for when there is disagreement between the larger and smaller powers the conference between assembly and council of the league are supposed to help in ironing out the differences. Will the other nations give up their present system simply to oblige the United States?

Lodge in Objection
That is what the reservations will provoke, but so far as the "irreconcilable" group here is concerned, the proposal got so tangled up as to nullify the effort to put America into the court altogether. The old way of nullifying reservations instead of interpretative reservations will be heard anew. Mr. Lodge has joined the opponents of the president though he argues he wants Mr. Harding re-nominated and re-elected, but he makes it clear that he thinks that it can be accomplished by Mr. Harding's joining his group rather than siding with Ellihu Root and Charles Evans Hughes, who favor international cooperation and a closer relationship with Europe.

PARADE ROUSES CITY TO AID IN FITTING MEMORIAL TO VETS

Scene from "The Rear Car" with Taylor Holmes.

"What's this coming? It's a parade of O'Kinnings!"

Seventy-five automobiles loaded with members of the Lions, Kiwanis and Rotary clubs, headed by the Blue Goose packed with members of the senior high school band, made a trail of interest in the coming of Taylor Holmes in "The Rear Car" at the high school auditorium Tuesday and Wednesday night.

Late Monday, Mrs. S. O. S. went out for more interest in the coming of the star of the first magnitude in the best piece of comedy-drama of the year, brought here by the Lions club and in giving a fitting memorial for the veterans of the World war from Janesville and Rock county.

Rotary and Kiwanis joined with other Lions in staging the parade and winding in and out of the streets of the city every section was covered. Honking horns, band music, cut-outs and whistles told of the line of march.

Taylor Holmes and company arrive this afternoon for the opening performance at 8:15 tonight at the H. S. auditorium. Wednesday, the entire cast will be in attendance at the luncheon of the Lions club. Tickets are being sold today at the Wisconsin Electric sales office, 15 South Main street, where reservations are made for seats. Outside the reason for the play on the road in the way of a dramatic attraction, the object is one to which any person in Janesville might readily contribute and gladly.

At the Theatres

AT THE APOLLO.
Mae Marsh makes her return to the screen after several years' absence, in the feature "The Gipsy Trail," at the Apollo theatre. It is a picture with plenty of action, in which Mae Marsh is at her best, and it should again put her in the position she held after her remarkable characterization in "The Birth of a Nation."

The story is that of Marion Dater, who escapes from an insane asylum where her guardian had locked her up to get her money, ties up with a gang of crooks, unknown to her then, rescues them from them and falls in love with a rich young attorney. The gang leader who loved her is sent to the man's home to steal some papers and there dies defending her in a thrilling climax.

In addition to Miss Murray's fine characterization, there are those of Norman Kerry, Julia Swayne Gordon, Martha Mansfield and J. Barney Sherman.

Buster Keaton's new comedy, "The Balloonatic," showing him still better than ever, is an added attraction.

MISS CAPELLE IS ELECTED AS QUEEN OF MAY

By a vote of the senior high school assembly, Monday morning, Miss Elizabeth Capelle, star of last week's senior play, "The Gipsy Trail," has been declared Queen of the May for the Y. W. C. A. On Saturday following in connection with the Kiwanis egg hunt in court house park. Preparations are now being made for her dress, throne and her pages.

City Places Man on Job at Dump at Goose Island

Through recommendation of the city health officer and sanitary inspector, a municipal employee is now stationed daily at the Goose Island dump to see that refuse is properly deposited there. This is in addition to the man who is employed regularly to take charge of the city's dumping ground in the Fourth ward, along Western avenue at the foot of Lincoln street.

It was a year ago or more that the council abandoned the plan of supervision of the Goose Island dump, transferring the man to Western avenue. Since then there has been considerable trouble at the former place.

With two dumping grounds now well established, Dr. L. J. Woodworth, city sanitary inspector, says there is no excuse for depositing refuse in the streets and at other points. He wants that teamsters and others who have been doing this may be prosecuted.

It's a good time right now to be on the lookout for flies, said Dr. Woodworth, Tuesday. "Swat one now and you'll be destroying millions."

Firemen Save Car of Tobacco

A carload of tobacco on a St. Paul side-track near the gravel pits at the foot of South Main street was saved from destruction by fire, Monday afternoon, when the fire department laid 1,300 feet of hose and extinguished a blaze in a pile of old railroad ties. The ties caught fire from burning grass.

At 4:15 Monday afternoon, the department was called out by a grass fire in the "hollow," between Sinclair street and Garfield avenue. Misunderstanding a child's call to come to 115 Sinclair street, the department went to 215 Court street at first, but found the real fire a few minutes later.

Fire alarms in April averaged one a day, according to Chief C. J. Murphy's records. Of the 30 calls 23 were stills, four were false box alarms and two were box alarms for fire. Fifteen hundred feet of hose were laid. The total alarms for four months of 1922 is 122.

Girl of Ghost Mountain

By J. ALLAN DUNN

Author of "A Man to His Mate," "Rimrock Trail," "The Man Trap."

Copyright by Small, Maynard and Company, and published by arrangement with McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

SYNOPSIS. Peter Sheridan, young New York lawyer, ranches in Arizona because of threatened tuberculosis. Chico, a boy, is near Ghost Mountain, on which he and his foreman, Red Jackson, discover a woman, though, however, to be a ghost. At Metzal, the nearby town, Hollister, a rustler and bad man, attacks a Chinaman who is rescued by Sheridan and installed as cook at the ranch. Later Sheridan is aware that Ghost Mountain is inhabited by a young woman who can collect swindle made. There, hearing that Hollister and his gang are going to raid the place, Peter and Red plan to rescue the woman. They make their way to the cabin on the mountain and are entertained. The rustlers arrive and are fed waffles by the woman. Returning from a visit to the girl of Ghost Mountain, Sheridan and Jackson find the ranch has been raided and Quong, the Chinese cook, taken away. They follow and rescue Quong. It is apparent that the Chinaman has some secret which Hollister and his gang of rustlers wish to obtain.

Quong, wordless, impassive in relief as he had been in peril, passed down the line. Pedro, holding aloft his dripping wrist, pleaded for a respite.

"No," barked Sheridan. "Hurry up, Quong. I don't want to have a general murder on my hands." He said slowly. "My boys are on their way with the Diamond V outfit and they'll be a trifle warm under the collar by the time they get here. Hold on, Quong, drop that knife."

His voice rang out sharply. Quong had just taken a knife from a sheath in the belt of one of the masked men. Sheridan had placed his hand on the hilt of his own sword. As the blade gleamed Quong had crouched and his calm face had twisted into a sudden murderous fury. But he obeyed. The weapons were piled in a heap by Sheridan's feet.

"Throw them out into the desert as far as you can," he ordered. "You pink-eyed murder on my hands. But not tonight." His voice took a higher note. His rage was mounting and he was having hard work to control it. But he knew that the best judgment on these men, outside the law, by reason of crooked politics, was the one he had devised.

"If there was tar enough to go around," he said, "I'd treat you all to the dose you meant for Quong. I may not be able to find a judge to treat you the way you deserve but I can make you laughing stocks and take some of the devilry out of you before you get back to Metzal. For you are going to walk, unless you want to hunt your horses in the cactus. If you had killed Jim Lund I'd go further, but he'll want to settle that score himself. Now get out, the whole pack of you. Hurry! Heat that!"

They heard it distinctly. A twitch of apprehension ran down the line at the distant shouts, coming nearer, nearer, the joyous "Whoop!" of cowboys on the trail. Jackson rode towards Sheridan, leading a horse. The band scattered, diving for cover, fleeing for the shadows. In the cactus as they ran and leaped and

One man stood his ground, the one Sheridan had marked as Hollister.

"Give me my horse," he said. "God damn you, Sheridan, I'll have you run out of the country faster than I'll—"

"Is it your horse?" drawled Jackson. "I sure hoped so. Quong's going to take it back. We'll send it over later, maybe with a little tar on its feathers on it for a souvenir, though I'd hate to mistreat even your brute."

"You'll walk, Hollister," said Sheridan. "If I were you, I'd run."

Hollister tore off his neckerchief, his features working as he struggled for sufficient speech to express his seething soul.

"I'll go even with you, you damned tenderfoot," he said. "You low, sneakin', love-makin'—"

Sheridan slid from the mare and jumped for him, tossing his gun to one side, anxious only to get his hands on Hollister, to choke down the dirty slanders he was about to utter. Hollister met him halfway and they came to a furious clinch, slugging and infighting, stamping, panting as they swayed back and forth. Hollister grunted as Sheridan smashed him over the head with a short-armed jolt, clinging, striking with his knee to foul. With one hand, his strength desperate in the extremity, Hollister clamped at Sheridan's face, his nails fetching blood, thumb and finger hooked into his opponent's eye, striving to force the ball from the socket while the other hand clutched at Sheridan's right arm.

The pain was maddening, paralyzing. Sheridan hammered at him with his free hand, his fingers, half-blinded, closed in again with smashing blows that broke down Hollister's guard. He clutched him by the throat and shook him, forcing him to his knees until his tongue lolled out and his bloated face turned purple.

Ball League Fully Organized-Ticket Sale Here Thursday

CIRCUIT CONFINED TO THE SIX CLUBS OF FIRST JOINING

Sweeping the road clear of all business details, the southern Wisconsin baseball league was given its final touches of organization at a meeting of the board of directors held at Edgerton Monday night.

All notes of guarantee, forfeit money, roster and names of managers were submitted Monday. Several amendments were made to the constitution and by-laws.

Closed to Six Teams. Applications for membership and the Milton American Legion for berth in the circuit, while considered at length, were shelved with a statement of regret because of the limits of their resources. The league will be confined to Janesville, Port Atkinson, Edgerton, Stoughton, Cambridge and Deerfield.

Importance of correct scoring was emphasized by every director present and to impress upon official scorers the importance of their duties, a fine of $5 is attached to that score keeper who does not give in his final report to the league secretary by Wednesday morning following each game.

Adopt Official Ball. The Harwood ball used with success last year by the previous southern Wisconsin league, will be the official baseball of the loop. Importance of having uniformity of baseball in the circuit was stressed by the ball to an equality was the point that carried weight.

Regarding Practice. A matter which has always caused trouble in the past, that of practice before the scheduled game, was settled Monday night with an amendment to the by-laws permitting the visiting team to arrive at the field from 1:50 to 2:30 p. m., to be called off at the end of the period by the umpire-in-chief. The home team will have the field from 2:30 to 3:00.

A point in the constitution that was bidding to cause trouble was made more intelligible Monday when it was decided that the right of a team to play away from city hall shall be from city hall to city hall.

May Have Lathrop. The clubs of the circuit are going after the pennant with punch. This was shown when the lists of players were handed in on Monday. The Black Cats club of Janesville has the names of William C. Lathrop, former White Sox player, on their roster. Manager Percy M. Hallett explained that while it is not the intention of using "Tussy" as a regular pitcher, it would be possible that the club will be an occasional occupant of the mound.

Stoughton, with a list of 47 players, has Ruy Sundt, former St. Paul player, on their roster. They will also use Jerdee, a star pitcher.

Williams With Edgerton. On the list of Edgerton players, is the name of "Tollie" Williams, nine-letter athlete of Wisconsin and coach-select of Milwaukee. Williams will act as coach and after the college season will play the field for the tobacco city. One of Edgerton's players, a kid named Burns, was discovered on a farm developing his arm by throwing a ball into a haystack and then coming after it.

Busy Man's Sport Page

By FRANK SINGLAI

HAIL the Knights of Columbus. The K. of C. organization is going to dine next Thursday night at the Grand hotel at an athletic banquet. That's not so much out of the ordinary run of news, but this is: The purpose of the meeting is to get the members together to help all branches of athletics, and to interest all members in the benefits that may be derived from participation in some athletic sport. That is the fourth gathering within the past two weeks to come out publicly for such a program. Great stuff.

WRITERS everywhere continue to call the precise sport of encephalic a horseshoe "around an iron peg" "barnyard golf." "Taint right," Champen Smith of DeKalb township has said so in the past and he has the right idea. It's horseshoe pitching. The sports writers in big cities, thinking they were smart and still claiming that only hayseeds and rubes live in the country, dubbed the game "barnyard golf," when as a matter of fact neither the expert sportsman nor the game ever saw much of the barnyard.

IN KANSAS CITY a retired captain of the army of Holland, Capt. R. K. Schoenig, is doing a real service. In conjunction with a newspaper, he is forming health hikes for this people, fat people, flat-chested, big-chested—for just folks. The idea is to get the people walking for the benefit they derive. It makes the writer think of the days he used to take 30-mile hikes up along the Fallgates of the Hudson, and back by train, tired but contented. Anybody here interested in hiking? Got some dope coming for you.

TENNIS courts under auspices of the local Y. M. C. A. at the old stand on West Milwaukee street are practically assured for the coming season, which, by the way, is here. A. E. Nathanson of the "X" gave assurance Monday that some method will be provided to procure sufficient funds to carry on the work of the past two years—a work that has proved constantly more popular with young and old alike in Janesville. This field is a big one for the "Y" for it brings it into contact with people whom they may not touch in any other way. It is good news.

IT'S funny about these big plants now maintained by the big leagues. Once upon a time a crowd of 10,000 was huge. Now when you put a crowd of 10,000 into the Yankee stadium in New York's Bronx borough, they are lost. In days of yore the players were enthused by a gang of 10,000 and played hard because of the enthusiasm generated thereby. Today, huh, 10,000 in the Yankee cap-vorthing ground is like a needle in a haystack and the players do not get the same old-time "pep" worked up through the crowd.

Scraps About Summers.—Tex Rickard, who owned the Chicago White Sox, was substituted for Floyd Johnson against Jess Willard in milk fund bout May 12 at New York. Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul, knocked out Dickie Robinson, Chicago, in the tenth round. Don Sage, University of Detroit, midweight, shaded Phil Krug of New Jersey, 15-10. (10.)—Lester Shelvin, Boston welterweight, awarded decision over Cowboy Padgett of Colorado at Boston (10).—The afternoon appetizer Tuesday is: "Kearns says he'll sign Wednesday or Thursday." Athletics were step behind Detroit, beating Boston by timely hitting in 11th inning, 4-2.—Vanquishing Chicago, 7-3, with a bright, infighting St. Louis ascended into triple tie with Senators and Red SALARY LIST BIG STEP FOR SCHOOLS

New Schedule Provides Business System for Teachers' Pay Increases.

The year 1923 in future history will stand out for two things in the line of education in Janesville. The first will be entering the new high school building, the other will be the adoption of a salary schedule, to affect all future contracts with teachers and to be a standard to be more or less followed in determining teachers' salaries.

This is the first time in the history of the schools that any definite standard has been set. In the past teachers were judged on their merits and experience only, the matter of their salary being settled by conferences and by recommendations of the superintendent and members of the teachers' committee of the board of education.

Statement to Teachers

Accompanying a copy of the schedule, which has been placed in the hands of each city teacher, is an explanation of it.

"The determination of salaries and increases" says the statement, "can never be satisfactory to all. It is hoped that Janesville teachers who are offered contracts will feel assured their work has been appreciated and that the salaries offered are in accordance with what the city is at this time able to afford. A dissatisfied teacher is in an unfortunate situation as to her ability to do her best work. The board of education hopes every teacher who elects to teach in Janesville will be happy in her work."

Experience Rule Abandoned

"A copy of a salary schedule is enclosed. While it has not been adopted, it will be worked toward. The belief is that with some possible alterations it will become effective as a regular schedule for the Janesville public schools. The finances of the city make it impossible to reach the schedule in one year, but gradual progress toward it will be made."

According to the schedule, the lowest salary, $1,000 will be paid to a woman fresh from the normal school with no experience whatever. This is contrary to the old rule, under which two years' experience were needed to start here, and the minimum salary was $1,200. It is explained by Supt. P. C. Holt, however, that by taking the best of the normal school graduates at $1,000 better teachers could be secured than by taking the poorer class of teachers with two years' experience at $1,200.

Provides Definite Increases

The schedule is on an 11-year basis. That is, a teacher coming at $1,000, will after a year be given $1,100, and smaller increases will be given annually, told in her twelfth year of teaching she is receiving

HIGHWAY POLICE FORCE PROPOSED

Moore Sees County Patrol Dep't. As Solution to Present Problem.

Establishment of a county police force for the patrol of county highways with concrete roads is more and more becoming necessary, is seen as the solution to the present situation in Rock county by Highway Commissioner Charles E. Moore, who says the matter will be taken up with the county board at the special June session.

Mr. Moore is confronted with the problem of filling the county patrolman job and has found it difficult to find a man who can qualify as a constable, and has the qualifications of a good officer. Merton Miller, who held the office for six months, resigned two weeks ago.

Whether the position is filled before the county board meets in June depends on the attitude of the committee under whose supervision the county patrolman was placed.

Passage of an ordinance will be necessary to establish the county police. Mr. Moore said Monday, that there is an apparent need for more than one speed cop to adequately police the Rock county highways.

Postmaster Jobs to Be Open Aug. 29

Several good jobs as postmaster will be open in southern Wisconsin Aug. 29, when commissions expire, included in these is Elkhorn, which pays a salary of $2,700 per annum; Lake Mills, $2,300; Plattville, $2,700, and Waterloo, $2,300. On an order of the president of the United States the civil service commission will hold an open competitive examination for these offices.

Town Contests to Be Held, May 10

Preparations for the township spelling contests, an annual event much looked forward to in Rock county, have been completed, supervisors appointed and the list of words and problems selected by the county superintendent. The township contests will be held May 10, and the winners will complete in the county contest in Janesville June 14, when graduation exercises will be held. Because of inability to get the new high school, the exercises will be held in the old high school building.

Formal Petition Filed by Tanks for Use of School

Action on the proposition of turning over the old high school building to the Janesville tank corps as an armory on the suggestions made by Captain Ralph Harmon is expected to be taken by the Janesville board of education at a special meeting which may be called this week.

May 15 is the date when the tank corps must move from the armory, which has been its headquarters since establishment three years ago, the lease expiring on that date. A Leath and Co. some time ago secured the rental of the armory, though for what it will be used has not been determined. Manager John Cain said.

Under the proposition made in writing to the board of education, the tank corps would rent the building for a nominal sum, make repairs on the roof, clean the building thoroughly, remove the desks from the assembly hall and use it as an armory. Three other rooms adjoining on the second floor would also be used.

If in the future it is desired to extend the privileges of the building to other organizations in the city, the tank corps would have the entire building—matter of more than $2,000 a year expense, it was said.
